

ARSA Regulatory Compliance Training—Questions

Part 21: Certification Procedures for Products and Articles

Level 1: For anyone working in aviation

§ 21.47 Transferability.

- (a) A holder of a type certificate may transfer it or make it available to other persons by licensing agreements.
- (b) For a type certificate transfer in which the State of Design will remain the same, each transferor must, before such a transfer, notify the FAA in writing. This notification must include the applicable type certificate number, the name and address of the transferee, and the anticipated date of the transfer.
- (c) For a type certificate transfer in which the State of Design is changing, a type certificate may only be transferred to or from a person subject to the authority of another State of Design if the United States has an agreement with that State of Design for the acceptance of the affected product for export and import. Each transferor must notify the FAA before such a transfer in a form and manner acceptable to the FAA. This notification must include the applicable type certificate number; the name, address, and country of residence of the transferee; and the anticipated date of the transfer.
- (d) Before executing or terminating a licensing agreement that makes a type certificate available to another person, the type certificate holder must notify the FAA in writing. This notification must include the type certificate number addressed by the licensing agreement, the name and address of the licensee, the extent of authority granted the licensee, and the anticipated date of the agreement.

Question 1: A type certificate may not be utilized by more than one person at a time.

Question 2: A type certificate may be transferred to any person.

- A: True.
- B: False

- A: True.
- B: False.

Question 3: A type certificate holder may define the authority granted to its licensee.

Question 4: A type certificate may be transferred to any person under the jurisdiction of the same State of Design as the previous holder.

- A: True.
- B: False.

- A: True.
- B: False.

Name and/or Identification

Clearly Print the Name and/or Identification of the Person Taking the Test

Date

Date Test was Completed

Score

Enter as x (number correct) of y (number of questions)

Hours

Time Credited for Test

Approved by

Signature of Supervisor or Person Administering Test

ARSA Regulatory Compliance Training—Answers

Part 21: Certification Procedures for Products and Articles

Level 1: For anyone working in aviation

§ 21.47 Transferability.

- (a) A holder of a type certificate may transfer it or make it available to other persons by licensing agreements.
- (b) For a type certificate transfer in which the State of Design will remain the same, each transferor must, before such a transfer, notify the FAA in writing. This notification must include the applicable type certificate number, the name and address of the transferee, and the anticipated date of the transfer.
- (c) For a type certificate transfer in which the State of Design is changing, a type certificate may only be transferred to or from a person subject to the authority of another State of Design if the United States has an agreement with that State of Design for the acceptance of the affected product for export and import. Each transferor must notify the FAA before such a transfer in a form and manner acceptable to the FAA. This notification must include the applicable type certificate number; the name, address, and country of residence of the transferee; and the anticipated date of the transfer.
- (d) Before executing or terminating a licensing agreement that makes a type certificate available to another person, the type certificate holder must notify the FAA in writing. This notification must include the type certificate number addressed by the licensing agreement, the name and address of the licensee, the extent of authority granted the licensee, and the anticipated date of the agreement.

Question 1: A type certificate may not be utilized by more than one person at a time.

Question 2: A type certificate may be transferred to any person.

A: True.

A: True.

B: False. § 21.47(a) allows a type certificate holder to “make it available” to other persons by licensing agreement. During this time the TC is still held by and available to the licensor.

B: False. § 21.47(c) limits type certificate transfers to persons subject to the authority of States of Design with which the United States has an agreement for acceptance of the affected product.

Question 3: A type certificate holder may define the authority granted to its licensee.

Question 4: A type certificate may be transferred to any person under the jurisdiction of the same State of Design as the previous holder.

A: True. § 21.47(d) includes “extent of authority granted” as information required in the written notification to be provided to the FAA.

A: True. See § 21.47(b).

B: False.

B: False.